CONGRATULATIONS FOR THE OCCIDENTAL

Jacobo Chavez, Territorial Superintendent of Insurance Compliments Management of Home Insurance Company

A letter extending flattering congratulations to the Occidental Life Insurance company, for the excellent examination witnessed by the company, at the hands of Mr. John F. Roche, a noted insurance expert of New York, under the direction of the New Mexico department of insurance, has been penned by Jacomo Chavez, territorial superintendent of insurance. Mr. Chavez takes occasion to say that the low mortality rate of the Occidental indicates the careful selection of risks and the excellence of the medical department, that the company is liberal in its treatment of policy-holders, and it pays its claims promptly, and that the surplus earned during the year is evidence of economical management.

If your methods are continued, the ultimate result of a big institution will be accomplished," concludes the letter, which in full is as follows:

Santa Fe, N. M., March 28, 1911.
Occidental Life Insurance Co.,
Albuquerque, N. M.

Gentlemen:

We wish to congratulate you upon the excellent result of the examination of your company which was made under the direction of this department, by Mr. John F. Roche of New York City.

Your low mortality rate shows that your risks are of careful selection and your medical department in excellent hands.

We find that the company is liberal in its treatment of policy-holders and that it pays its claims promptly.

The surplus earned during the year is evidence that the company is economically managed and if your methods are continued the ultimate result of a big institution will be accomplished.

Yours very truly,
JACOB CHAVEZ,
Superintendent of Insurance

SIMON STERN HAS LARGE MIRRORS

Whole Family Can See Themselves at Same Time in Big Reflectors Installed By Central Avenue Clothier.

Simon Stern, the Central avenue clothier, has a corner on the mirror business in Albuquerque just at the present time, having converted his establishment into a veritable palace of mirrors. Large mirrors have been installed in all departments. One mirror is 8x5 feet and by all odds the largest reflector in town.

Banquet for Railroad Enthusiasts

A suggestion, later put in the form of a motion by Mr. Arthur Bennett, that Albuquerque entertain the Farmington officers, directors and boosters of the proposed Albuquerque, Farmington & Gulf railroad at a Commercial club banquet, will no doubt be later carried into effect. President Schwenkert was

CLUB TO SUGGEST ORDINANCES FOR ADOPTION

Exhaustive Report By Committee on Health is Read Last Night; Permanent Health Committee Named.

Advocating the enforcement of the health laws which are now in effect and the passage of other laws which will make Albuquerque one of the most healthful cities in the world, Dr. Robert Smart, chairman of the health committee of the Commercial club, presented to that organization last night an exhaustive report dealing with past and present health conditions in Albuquerque.

Before making the report, which was adopted by the Commercial club last night after reading, the health committee engaged in extended investigation work, covering a period of some three months. The cause of certain diseases in Albuquerque was investigated thoroughly, the cost of these diseases to the public, the methods adopted by the city to prevent them, and methods of other communities of conducting their health departments were the chief features of the report. The report included a number of suggestions and in some cases sweeping reforms were advocated, which in the opinion of the committee will make Albuquerque a much more healthful city.

Following the reading and adoption of the report, President Schwenkert was authorized, upon motion, to name a permanent health committee of the Commercial club. Included in the motion for the appointment of a permanent health committee, was a clause which authorized the committee to draft ordinances or health regulations and submit them to the city council with the suggestion that they be considered and adopted. It is understood these suggestions will be considered by the club before being presented to the municipal authorities.

Prominent among the recommendations made in the report of the health committee, and which will probably be suggested in more elaborate form to the board of health at some future time, were the following:

1. The placing of the administration of all sanitary and health matters in the hands of one man, appointed by the mayor, after examination; and taking the position entirely out of politics.

2. The amalgamation, if practical, of the city and county health officials, each community sharing pro rata, the expense.

3. The appointment, under the health commissioner, of one sanitary inspector and one nurse, the latter to duty in inspection of the public schools.

4. The establishment of a sanitary laboratory for the free use of the public in relation to infectious sickness.

5. The proper enforcement of all sanitary regulations, with particular attention to those of quarantine and antiseptics.

6. The closure of all shallow wells.

7. The enforcement of proper regulations in regard to the sanitation of all premises with particular attention directed towards the breeding places of flies.

8. Enforcement of sanitary regulations in the districts adjacent to the city proper.

9. The cost of fumigation for contagious diseases to be borne by the city instead of the individual.

President Schwenkert, following the adoption of the report, appointed the following permanent health committee:

Dr. Robert Smart, chairman; Dr. W. G. Hope, W. D. Sterling, superintendent of city schools, and Hugh J. Collins, city attorney.

Canning Proposition Up to Directors

With health conditions and sanitation out of the way, the club took up several "boosting" propositions, chief among which were the canning factory, golf links, the Farmington, Albuquerque and Gulf railroad and a Woodmen of the World sanitarium.

Considerable discussion followed the introduction of the canning proposition. Mr. Schwenkert said that he had received a letter from Mr. Green, promoter of the enterprise, in which he had stated that although he had tried hard, he had not been able to secure a capable tomato culture man to assume charge of the project here. Mr. Green was in Albuquerque some two weeks ago and left for Denver for the purpose of securing a man to direct the preliminary work of establishing the cannery here.

Upon motion the canning proposition was referred back to the board of directors for final action. During the discussion of the cannery, it developed that there were quite a few enthusiastic tomato growers in the gathering. Chief among the tomato boosters was Edward T. Lee, who said he obtained 1500 pounds of tomatoes from one vine in the Rio Grande valley last year. Mr. Lee reviewed his success in some length and convinced any skeptics who might be present as to the ability of valley soil to produce an abundance of tomatoes, cucumbers and other vegetables.

William Menard, a well known valley farmer, demonstrated his leaning toward boosting when he declared that he has already completed plans for growing five acres of tomatoes on his land north of Albuquerque this season, canning factory or no canning factory.

Mr. Menard has had a number of years experience as a tomato raiser and intends to raise five acres this year just to demonstrate that it can be done successfully, and at a very low expense in proportion to the profit.

Mr. Menard intends to have large signs erected on his tomato patch, declaring to the world the possibilities of the soil as tomato land.

Banquet for Railroad Enthusiasts

A suggestion, later put in the form of a motion by Mr. Arthur Bennett, that Albuquerque entertain the Farmington officers, directors and boosters of the proposed Albuquerque, Farmington & Gulf railroad at a Commercial club banquet to communicate with the Farmington people on the proposition, and providing a favorable reply is received from them, work will be begun immediately to arrange for a big spread. The banquet will be along similar lines to that of the "Get-Together Banquet," which met with such great success some months ago when the Commercial club was jammed with boosters. Mr. Everitt's motion was well received by the club members present and practically the only thing that stands in the way of the banquet is the possibility that the Farmington boosters may not be able to attend because of the great distance, by railroad, at present existing between Albuquerque and the hustling metropolis of San Juan county.

SANITARIUM MATTER TAKEN UP

President Schwenkert will appoint a committee later to look into the proposition of having Albuquerque put in a bid for the sanatorium which the Woodmen of the World propose to establish some place in New Mexico or Arizona. The Woodmen are already looking over various locations and sites Las Vegas, Roswell and other towns are paying a little attention to the project and other towns in the southwest are making efforts to land the institution, which would be a home and sanitarium for Woodmen who have contracted tuberculosis.

LAWD OF SKIBO MAY BE INVITED TO PLAY

Taking up the suggestion advanced by Mr. Herman Schwenkert and Mr. John Stein of the Harness system that golf links in Albuquerque would attract many wealthy tourists and semi-permanent residents to the city, several of the club members advocated the establishment of such an attraction. Sites were discussed both on the lowlands and highlands, but no definite action was taken other than to adopt a motion authorizing President Schwenkert to appoint a committee to look into the proposition and make a report on its feasibility and advisability.

OFFICER CHARGED WITH ASSAULT

JOSE GRIEGO FILES COMPLAINT

ALLEGING DEPUTY SHERIFF GOMEZ ATTACKED HIM WITH INTENT TO KILL.

As the aftermath of his arrest late yesterday afternoon upon a charge of drunkenness, Jose Griego this morning filed a complaint against Deputy Sheriff Jacobo Gomez for assault with intent to murder. The complaint was sworn to before Justice of the Peace George R. Craig.

Griego appeared in police court this morning in a badly battered condition, with his head encased in bandages and his clothing stained with blood. He had been arrested by Deputy Sheriff Gomez yesterday afternoon opposite the Santa Fe shops in Barelles and brought to the Albuquerque police station, where a charge of drunkenness and resisting an officer was lodged against him. Gomez appeared in court this morning and at his request the case was transferred to the court in Barelles.

Griego denied that he was drunk and claims that he was assaulted without provocation. He stated that he was unarmed at the time of his arrest, and that Gomez beat him over the head with the butt of a six-shooter.

The preliminary hearing upon the complaint against Gomez will probably take place after the case against Griego in Barelles is disposed of.

MICHIGAN MAN IS FOUND DEAD

JOHN SOLBERG FAILS TO RESPOND TO BREAKFAST CALL; PASSED AWAY QUIETLY DURING THE NIGHT.

John Solberg of Baraga, Mich., was found dead in his bed in the room on South Edith street this morning.

Solberg was about 46 years old and had been in Albuquerque for about a year. He had been ill for a long time and came to this city in the hope of regaining his health. About a week ago he had quite a severe attack but it was thought he was better. Last night he retired as usual, with no indication of any serious trouble. This morning Solberg did not appear at breakfast. When he was called and did not respond the room was opened and he was found to be dead. Apparently death took place between 10 and 11 o'clock last night.

The body is held at the Borders undertaking establishment awaiting the arrival from Baraga of A. W. Dahlberg, a brother-in-law of the deceased.
